Dear Colleagues

Re: Complex Injections LES – Inclisiran

I am writing to advise that with immediate effect, the above LES is being varied to remove Inclisiran from the list of injections to be provided under the specification.

NHS England continues to fund inclisiran centrally to ensure equitable and timely access. Recent negotiations between NHSE and Novartis means the reimbursed amount available to practices, when inclisiran is administered and claimed via an FP10 prescription, has increased significantly.

From 1 April 2025 the amount reimbursed per personally administered injection will be £15 (plus a dispensing fee), an increase of £10 on the previous reimbursed amount of £5 per injection. Further information can be found at NHS England » Funding and supply of inclisiran \(Leqvio®\).

These new arrangements mean that while we had originally decided to fund this locally as part of the LES, we can no longer maintain this with a national offer in place for the same service.

We will fund any Inclisiran injections given under the LES between 1st May and today's date but no further claims will be approved and subsequent claims should all be made against the national scheme.

Supporting data quality resources have been updated to remove Inclisiran from any searches or templates and the updated resources are available on the intranet.

We appreciate that this may raise additional questions and should you have any concerns or queries, please send these to lscicb.primarycareles@nhs.net.

Yours sincerely

Erika Sutcliffe
Senior Primary Care Manager (Central and West Lancs)
